

Maxibit, Warehousing - Logistics

Distribution

Distribution made easy

Within its vast network, Maxibit has the expertise to organise complex logistical nightmares into on time performance that is simple and timely.

If you want a display in London on Wednesday that's to be redesigned, separated and sent to Tokyo and Paris on Friday, Maxibit will provide the logistics and the solution.

Maxibit's centralised logistical network, and a vast array of partners and service providers world wide, gives you a cutting edge in today's tight economy.

Don't send it - it's bad for the environment.

With a partner network such as Maxibit, it makes little sense to send you displays all over the world. We provide uniform service, wherever you are.

With a Maxibit Certified Partner, if you suddenly find you need to be half a world away, we won't ship your display; we'll just build it on the other side of the world.

Warehousing

Storing your displays

In one of the worlds best network of service providers, you can store your displays with access only a phone call away. Having your displays so close means that when you need them in a hurry, you can get them in a flash.

By storing you displays in our warehouse you integrate your event with our expertise and efficiency. We know how to store, handle and look after your event materials so they are in pristine condition every time.

Integration in a leading network

When you store your displays in our warehouse, you are that much closer to integration within a leading network. By taking advantage of our range of distribution services, you can have a warehouse and logistics system that is not only efficient but world class.

Maintenance

Maintaining your display

After the event Maxibit will repair any damaged parts and make sure you display is fresh and ready the next time you want to use it. Keeping your displays looking good equals keeping your brand looking professional.

Integrated services

Maintenance is but one part of our leading integrated services. Maintaining your displays is best done in co-operation with Maxibit's distribution, set up and warehousing. Call or e-mail us for more information.

